第三部分 阅读理解

【例1】

Dads have Father's Day. Moms have Mother's Day. Kids have Children's Day. But, do our grandparents have a special holiday? They do!

Double Ninth Festival (重阳节) is a special day for older people in China. This holiday is on the ninth day of the ninth month of the lunar calendar (阴历). This year it falls on October 16. On this holiday, younger people usually show love and respect for older people.

There are many ways in which Chinese people express their respect. When an older person enters a room, everyone stands. People are introduced from the oldest to the youngest. When presenting a book to an older person, two hands are used. Young people always offer their seats to older people on a crowded subway or bus.

Respecting older people is a tradition in China. That's because the Chinese know that older people have knowledge and experience that young people can learn from. So, Chinese people are proud of being old.

In Western countries, however, older people seldom think they are old. They are called "seniors". They'd rather do everything themselves. Even after retirement, they take on hobbies, part-time jobs and new activities to keep their bodies working well.

Westerners respect their older people, too. Usually, "seniors" ride trains and buses for free. They are given discounts (打折) in stores and restaurants.

But Western seniors don't often live with their children—they live alone. For holidays, the family usually gathers at the grandparents' home, and a great smile and warm hug for their parents are enough for grown children to show their respect.

1. Double Ninth Festival is a special holiday for _____ in China.

- A. fathers B. mothers C. children D. grandparents

2. What does the underlined word "senior" in the fifth paragraph mean?

- A. older people. B. younger people. C. high school students. D. parents.

3. Older people in Western countries _____.

- A. are proud of being old
B. liked to be called "senior"
C. never take on hobbies after retirement
D. usually live with their grown children

4. Which of the following is NOT a way to respect the older people?

- A. Stand up when older people come into the room.
B. Introduce people from youngest to oldest.
C. Use two hands to present things
D. Offer seats on buses or subways.

5. What does the story mainly tell us?

- A. We should show love and care for older people.
- B. Only Chinese people respect older people.
- C. Western seniors live a better life than Chinese older people.
- D. The Chinese and Westerners respect the old in different ways.

【答案】 1.D 2.A 3.B 4.B 5.D

Think about the problem from your parents' point of view. 2 Why do they do that? Is it really bad?

Try to stay calm. If you find yourself getting too angry, ask for some time to be alone. 3

From 5:00 to 6:00 every afternoon, students have different kinds of sports, such as football, basketball, volleyball, table tennis, running, swimming and jumping. Most students are good at football, basketball and running. We hold a sports meeting every year. And also, we often have matches against other middle schools. The reason why most of us like having sports is that it not only keeps us healthy, but also helps us make more friends. Of course, it is quite good for our study. The most important of all, we can develop the ability to get along with others by having sports.

That's all. Thank you for your attention. Have a good time in our school!

This is a story between a woman and a tree in America.

Julia Hill was born in 1974. As she grew up, she realized it was important to protect trees. At the age of 23, she heard some bad news one day. A company wanted to cut down part of a forest in California. In the forest there was a 1,000-year-old redwood tree, which was 70 metres tall! Julia wasn't happy about this. She thought, "If I sit in the redwood tree, the company can't cut it down."

So she traveled to California to protect the redwood tree. In order to stop the company, Julia climbed up the redwood tree, built a small treehouse and lived in it. Her friends cooked food for her every day. Many news reporters came to interview her. Julia talked to those reporters by mobile phone.

Many people supported Julia, but other people were not on her side. They tried to stop her. The company used a helicopter to fly around her treehouse. It made a lot of noise and brought strong wind. But nothing could stop Julia. She stayed in the redwood tree for two years and eight days.

In the end, Julia was successful. The company agreed not to cut down the redwood tree. Julia and her friends became very happy.

Susan was a shy girl. She always had a hard time talking with new people. But when she grew up, she became a reporter. This job is usually for a person who likes to talk in front of people. But Susan thought that her shyness made her a better reporter. “Being shy makes me more believable — people feel more comfortable around me,” she said.

It is reported that almost 50% of the people say that they are shy. Some people are not shy when they are with their friends. But when they are in a new place, they become quiet and shy.

Why are some people shy? Scientists did a study on two-month-old babies. They found that one of every five babies was very active. These active babies liked to make noise. And one of every five babies was always quiet. These quiet babies might be shy when they grew up.

Family also affects shyness. For example, children are more likely to be shy if their family always tell them that they are wrong. Studies show that if parents have fewer friends and fewer family activities, their children usually become shy.

In fact, shy people are often good at listening. They are good friends because they listen more than they talk. This can also make them successful.

46. What did Susan become when she grew up?
- A. A nurse. B. A reporter. C. A writer. D. A singer.

Boys and girls, may I have your attention, please! There will be a speech in our school next Monday. The speech will be made by Mr. Green in the school library. It is about table manners. Mr. Green is from England. He is a famous writer. He likes traveling and he is interested in table manners. He has already been to more than fifty countries, so he knows table manners in different countries quite well. Mr. Green will make the speech in English. I'm sure we can learn a lot from the speech. If you want to attend the speech, please write down your names here.

That's all. Thank you!
